GETTING STARTED

EASY SET-UP

The BIOTONE SPA Treatment Protocol is for a Customized Body Exfoliation, followed by one of our three Customized Mud Wraps or a Hydrating Body Wrap, finishing with a Customized Body Hydrator. This is a dry room protocol. If you are using a shower or Vichy, use appropriate protocol during the period of product removal.

BE PREPARED

If you are familiar with providing full body spa treatments, you may add, change, or omit steps as it suits your personal or client preference. If this is your first time doing a full body spa treatment, you are encouraged to follow the protocol described until you are comfortable with all the steps and can complete them without referring to the instructions. This will typically take 4 practice sessions. After that you can alter your table setup or product application as it suits your personal or client preference.

WHAT TO ASK THE CLIENT

Before providing any treatment to your client, be sure to discuss any contraindications the client may have. Contraindications include: active cancer, epilepsy, infectious/contagious skin conditions, low blood pressure, pregnancy or lactation, heart disease, diabetes, cardiovascular conditions, inflammation, severe abrasions, or allergies to product ingredients.

BEFORE YOU BEGIN

Show the client the prepared room. Inform the client where to store their clothes or robe after you leave the room. Instruct them to lay face down on the table underneath the top bath sheet. Prior to leaving the room, client may select the Customizing Complex (pg. 3) they prefer in their treatments. While client is undressing for treatment, leave to prepare your body treatments.

EXFOLIATORS
Action Packed to Awaken Skin
Prep Skin for Maximum Benefits | Easy Wash Off | Use in Wet or Dry Room

EXFOLIATION TREATMENT
As you begin this next step of the treatment, let your client know the special benefits of the product you are applying. Apply exfoliator to dry skin only. Undrape and re-cover the client as appropriate during the product application to prevent chilling and respect modesty. During exfoliation use your fingertips as well as your full palm using vigorous, quick circular strokes.

1. Begin on lower body by spreading the exfoliator in upward direction along full length of leg.

2. Returning to ankles, scrub skin using small circular movements on side and back of leg, slowly moving in an upward direction on leg and buttocks. Repeat 2-3 times ending with one long stroke to the foot. Avoid back of knee.

4-6. Move to head of table and apply exfoliator first on back, then arms, and hands. Stabilize elbow and wrist joint when exfoliating arm. Scrub skin alternating large and small strokes. Repeat on elbows and rough patches.

7-8. Remove exfoliator with warm moist towels in same order applied, toweling area 1-2 times insuring exfoliator removal. Use one towel for lower body and one towel for upper body. When removal is complete, hold bath sheet between you and your client instructing them to turn over. Re-cover client with bath sheet.

9-10. Exfoliate client in same order as previous side. First legs; then upper body. Remove exfoliator as before. Use one hand towel for upper body and one for lower body. When removing exfoliant on decollete, arms and stomach, cover breast and pelvic area with hand towel. Cover client with bath sheet after each section is cleansed to avoid chilling.

1. Assist client to sitting position while covered. Moving quickly to avoid mud cooling, apply mud evenly over back. Use one hand for mud application. Roll lower bath sheet towards buttocks. Assist client to lie back down & lift hips to remove lower bath sheet. Client should now be in direct contact with plastic wrap.

2. Have client bend knee, resting foot on table, rolling slightly to one side to allow proper mud coverage. Apply mud to inside and outside leg and buttocks. Avoid the feet.

3. When leg is covered with mud, straighten and cover leg and foot with plastic. Repeat on other leg. Cover client’s lower body with bath sheet to prevent body from chilling.

4. Apply mud to stomach, then arm and decollete. Have client place arm in comfortable resting position for duration of wrap. Cover mud with plastic. Finish with other arm and wrap with plastic.

5. Wrap client with thermal blanket, optional flat sheet, & cotton blanket. Place a bath sheet over this cocoon to seal in heat. If preferred, place an eyepillow over their eyes. Leave the room, allowing client 15-20 minute rest. (Occasionally checking in on them during rest) Place finishing product in roaster.

6. Optional step. Return to provide 5-10 minute scalp massage while client is resting in wrap.

7. Test towel heat before applying. Remove mud from chest, arms, and stomach with warm moist towels.

8. Assist client to sit up. With fresh warm moist hand towel, remove remaining mud from back.

9. Prior to client lying back down, roll/fold plastic and thermal blanket towards their buttocks. Have client lie down covering upper body with bath sheet. For each leg, remove mud with separate fresh moist hand towel.

10. Peel back plastic from one leg. Begin on thigh, remove mud with fresh hand towel, cleansing top then back of leg. Have client lift hip, then roll/fold used section of plastic and thermal blanket. Repeat on other leg. Remove plastic and thermal blanket entirely. Cover client with bath sheet to prevent body from chilling.
